Our Outside The Shell Production Process

Deb El Food Products is a family-owned manufacturer and distributor of a full line of Liquid, Frozen and Dried Egg Products. Deb El recognizes that the needs of the customer always come first and prides itself in its ability to respond to its customers' needs in a prompt and efficient manner. Deb El's explosive growth in recent years is a testament to its unique blend of high quality products, reliable "family" service and competitive pricing.

Elizabeth, NJ is the home of Deb El's Corporate Offices, as well as the most modern Egg Drying plant in the country, built from the ground up in 1983. Deb El's state-of-the-art Egg Breaking Plant is situated on 165 acres in Thompsonville, NY. Each of Deb El's manufacturing plants employs cutting edge equipment and technology enabling Deb El to supply the highest quality egg products to its customers of all sizes, from corner bakeries and diners to worldwide export markets.

Quality Assurance is the backbone of Deb El's success. From Deb El's highly experienced and qualified Quality Assurance Team to every level of Management, Operations, Sales, Transportation and Customer Service, the Deb El culture breeds pride in the quality requirements and high standards that the company was founded upon.

Deb El maintains an in-house, on-site USDA and FSIS fully approved laboratory while simultaneously using two independent commercial laboratories to collaborate test results. Each and every production lot is tested for chemical, physical and microbiological analysis. Raw ingredients as well as in-process and final product is continually verified according to specifications. Deb El's entire manufacturing environment is guided by the FDA's Good Manufacturing Practices and is verified annually during third party auditing by the American Institute of Baking (AIB) and others.

Deb El is a socially responsible company with a proven track record of "giving back" to the industry and community at large. Deb El's President, Elliot Gibber, chairs numerous industry associations and technical committees in addition to serving on a variety of industry, school and university boards.

Deb El believes that ultimate success requires teamwork and all levels of the Deb El family are proud to work closely with their high quality farmers, suppliers and customers to bring the freshest and highest quality products to the market.

A hand is shown cracking an egg into a clear glass measuring cup. The egg yolk and white are falling into the cup, which already contains some liquid. The measuring cup has red markings for cups and ounces. A whole egg is sitting on the surface next to the cup.
